WAS CREATED WHEN PRETTY WOMAN DETECTIVE

WAS CALLED TODAY IN THOMAS DIVORCE TRIAL.

SENSATIONAL STATEMENT MADE

In Which Former Newark Residents Figure—Plaintiff's Case Closed at Chicago Today.

Chicago, March 19.—Harry Cleveland, newspaper writer and photographer, was the first witness called in the Thomas divorce case this morning. His testimony was as sensational as that given Tuesday by Lester Clover, a former hackman of Columbus, Ohio, who told of night carriage rides taken by Mrs. Thomas with various men.

Cleveland testified that on the night of January 2 of the present year, he in company with two women detectives, saw Mrs. Thomas enter a resort in a section of Columbus known as "Nigger Heaven." She was accompanied by another woman and two men. After remaining in the wine-room a few moments Mrs. Thomas and her companions, witness said, repaired to the rooms up stairs.

Two nights later, continued witness, he saw Mrs. Thomas and a man enter a room in Gaver's Road House, near Columbus. An hour later Cleveland saw her in the hallway leading to the room. She was scantily attired and her hair was disarranged.

There was a flutter in the court room when Mrs. Louise Gray one of the women detectives was called to the stand today. She is a tall, unusually handsome and exquisitely gowned woman. She swept down the aisle with the air of a queen. Mrs. Gray resides in St. Louis, her husband being an insurance man. She corroborated Mr. Cleveland's story.

Alice Oshare, another woman detective, a saleslady in a Columbus dry goods store, testified practically the same as given by the two witnesses. The testimony of a woman medical expert as to Mrs. Thomas' illness closed the case of the plaintiff today.

Chicago, March 19.—Sensational evidence will be introduced in the Thomas divorce case today when the attorneys for Mrs. Ada Blandy Thomas will endeavor to prove that she is the victim of a conspiracy. They will call witnesses who, they aver, will be able to contradict the damaging testimony given yesterday afternoon for the prosecution.

"We intend to show that the witnesses for the prosecution have been lying," said W. Barry, attorney for Mrs. Thomas, after the adjournment of court. "We will go further and show the motive of these witnesses. There has been a conspiracy against my client on the part of the people whom I shall designate as the Masonic Temple gang, and I intend that it shall be exposed."

The intention of the defense to attempt to show conspiracy was manifested when Lester Clover, a former Columbus (Ohio) cab driver, was on the stand. Clover testified that he had driven Mrs. Thomas in his cab during December, 1900. On one occasion he alleged she was in the company of a traveling salesman named Fitzgerald. On another she was declared to have accompanied a bank clerk to a resort.

His evidence was of a highly sensational nature, and was regarded as exceedingly damaging. Attorney Barry and his client, Mrs. Thomas, listened nervously to the explicit accusations of the John.

Then Mr. Barry began his cross-examination. He made no attempt to break down the witness' testimony, confining his questions to the manner in which he made his knowledge of the defendant known to the attorney for young Thomas.

FIRE

DESTROYS "BRITISH QUEEN" AND ONE LIFE.

SIX WHO WERE INJURED NOW IN THE HOSPITAL.

LOSS ABOUT MILLION DOLLARS.

Fire Raged All Night and Score of Streams Played on Fire This Morning.

New York, March 19.—(Bulletin.)—Wm. Scott, supposed to have perished in the fire, turned up today. He let himself into the river and was rescued after being in the water an hour. Today it developed that T. J. Cooney, fireman, fell overboard from the Queen and was drowned.

New York, March 19.—A score of streams of water are being poured this morning on the blazing ruins of the spectacular fire, which destroyed the big steamship British Queen, burned the Phoenix pier and consumed several barges and lighters at Hoboken last night. As far as can be learned this morning only one life was lost, that of Chief Engineer Wm. Scott, of the British Queen. Six persons are more or less seriously injured in St. Mary's hospital in Hoboken. The police will make a search of the ruins later in the day and there is some expectation that other bodies may be found.

It is estimated this morning that the property loss will reach over a million dollars. The fire broke out early in the night on the Phoenix line pier, which was filled with oil barrels, cotton and other combustibles and fanned by the strong northwest wind it spread rapidly. Just how the fire started is not definitely known but it is believed that it was started by some members of the crew of the British Queen, who were disgruntled over alleged cruel treatment on the trip over.

The flames quickly spread from the pier to the big steamship which was loading beside the pier. Barges just north of the burning pier also caught fire. An attempt was made to tow the burning liner and the barges into mid-stream, but it had to be given up on account of the terrific heat. Three hours later the British Queen and several blazing barges broke from their docks and were blown out into the river. One barge drifted in the tide and wind to the American line pier, where the St. Louis and Kensington lay at anchor. Neither of the American ships had steam up in time to butt the barge into the stream. Ferry boats passing from New York to Jersey City were endangered and had to dodge the drifting lighters and barges.

Chief Engineer Scott was confined in his cabin on the British Queen with rheumatism and he is known to have perished in the flames. Many jumped into the water from the steamship and pier and were picked up by tugs.

When asked by his attorney to describe the business of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Pratchett of Columbus, formerly Mrs. Blandy of Newark, Thomas said she was a "palmitist," or fortune teller, who did her seeing through the stars. Mrs. Blandy occupied a seat behind Mrs. Thomas, and this description of her occupation caused her much merriment.

After further recital of Mrs. Thomas' alleged bouts with liquor at the home of her sister in New York, and her demand for Russian Khamel, during a visit to the Masonic Temple in Chicago, the plaintiff moved from the witness chair to make way for his wife and a bunch of letters.

The letters were earnest in tone, and contained references to their expected reconciliation. One of them reads: "Now that I am away from you, how do you feel? Do you want me to come back? I have my doubts if you want to have me come back, because of your past silence for eight months. Dearest, if we live together again there must be no mistakes, no more fighting. You are the one to decide, as you are the one wronged. Yours affectionately, 'HAROLD.'"

Towards the United States Changed by the Visit of the Prince—What Die Post Says.

PRINCE HENRY ON BOTH OF HIS CHEEKS

EMPEROR WILLIAM AWAITED HIS BROTHER ON THE QUAY.

HENRY AGAIN TALKS OF TRIP

Expressing Once More His Gratitude for the Many Kindnesses Shown Him in America.

Berlin, March 19.—A number of the papers here published editorials welcoming Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia back to Germany, and sum up the results of his trip to the United States with great satisfaction. The Post expects a permanent change in the attitude of the German public toward the United States and says: "We must now cast completely overboard the old legends about American character and civilization. We must admit that beyond the sea and almost in the sunlight of the most modern times a people has grown up which in its peculiar character can make a just claim to be recognized as the equal of the old civilized countries. Henceforth our judgment of affairs in the United States should not be influenced and controlled by pictures from the Wild West, of the California gold fields, of New York gambling dens and of the editorial rooms of the Arizona Kicker."

NUGENT

WAS SENT FOR CONTEMPT TO STAY IN JAIL.

Case Went to Supreme Court—Has no Money to Pay—Cited a Debt Sentence.

Louisville, March 19.—Unless W. F. Nugent, formerly a merchant of this city, once worth not less than $500,000, pays $14,400 into the Federal court he will be given imprisonment until the money is forthcoming. Nugent's attorneys and his friends claim he has not a cent. Consequently the Court's ruling practically means life imprisonment for debt. Lawyers here say the case is without a parallel, and is virtually a renewal of the old English law.

The Nugent case has been one of the most famous in Kentucky annals. It started about two years ago when the old drygoods house failed. A few days after the failure it transpired that just before the assignment W. F. Nugent, the son of the proprietor, had quietly disposed of a large part of the stock for $14,000. This money did not figure in the assignment. After the house had been forced into bankruptcy Trustee Mueller, for the creditors, tried to get hold of this money. Nugent had disappeared.

He was finally located near Shelbyville and brought back for trial. Judge Evans ruled that he must pay over the money or go to jail for contempt of court until he did. Attorney W. M. Smith got Nugent out on $8,900 bond pending an appeal. The Circuit Court of Appeals reversed Judge Evans. Then W. W. Watts took the case to the Supreme court of the United States. It was argued early in January, and on January 20 the Supreme court handed down a decision reversing the Circuit court of Appeals and sustaining Judge Evans. Mr. Smith immediately filed a plea for a new hearing. The plea has just been denied by the United States Supreme court.

And now the big question is, has Nugent the money? His friends say that he has not. The mandate from the Supreme court is that the defendant must pay over $14,400, or the judgment of the lower court must be executed. Judge Evans has ruled that Nugent must pay or go to jail until he does. If he has no money that will mean the same as sentencing him to life imprisonment.

Mr. Smith said "The decision means that Nugent must go to prison for debt. He has not got the money, and there is nothing for him to do."

KISSED

PRINCE HENRY ON BOTH OF HIS CHEEKS

EMPEROR WILLIAM AWAITED HIS BROTHER ON THE QUAY.

HENRY AGAIN TALKS OF TRIP

Expressing Once More His Gratitude for the Many Kindnesses Shown Him in America.

Cuxhaven, March 19.—The return of Prince Henry to German soil was safely accomplished Tuesday afternoon, amid all the pomp and circumstance with which the Prince's imperial brother has seen fit to mark the successful ending of Prince Henry's American mission. Emperor William stood upon the quay, surrounded by high naval and municipal officials. As representative of the American Embassy at Berlin, Commander William H. Beehler, the naval attaché to the embassy, stood at the Emperor's side.

The quay was decorated with the flags of all the states of the empire and the thousands of spectators who entered the roofs of the great warehouses and the wide slopes overlooking the scene, cheered wildly as Prince Henry walked down the gangway from the steamer. Emperor William kissed his brother upon both cheeks and shook hands with the members of his suite, saying a few cheerful sentences to each. In the meantime the guns of the squadron saluted.

Side by side His Majesty and Prince Henry then passed down in front of the marine guard, which stood at salute. After this the marine guard passed in review, while the band of the imperial yacht Hohenzollern played the national anthem.

As the steamer drew near Cuxhaven Prince Henry received the correspondent of the Associated Press in his cabin. The Prince said: "I desire to send a last word through you to America, to say how deeply grateful I am for the measureless kindness I received while there. I tried to say this before I left, but I want to say again that I am grateful for the cordial and generous manner in which the people and the President of the United States received me."

"I met and talked with as many individuals as I could, but of course, I saw most of the people in crowds, and sometimes only from the railroad car platform, then only long enough to touch my cap or take off my hat to them. I wish to thank all those thousands for the trouble they took."

The Prince spoke with feeling. "I had no opportunity," he continued "of studying the details of industry as I would like to have done."

As to the fatigue of the trip, the Prince said: "I was often tired (and I had to be careful what I said, both publicly and privately). But since my long sleeps on board the Deutschland I would be ready to return to America at once for just such another trip. This one has been so full of pleasure and instruction. It is a good thing to look upon another people face to face and form your own impressions. * * * I shall tell His Majesty exactly what I have told you, namely how I appreciate the kindness shown me by the people of America. I wish to add a special word of thanks to the sympathetic way in which the American papers treated me."

THE SHIP CANAL.

NEW NOTES

Portrait of President McKinley on Ten and of President Harrison on Five Dollar Bill.

Washington, March 19.—The comptroller of the currency has issued the first delivery of the new national bank notes, known as the series of 1902.

These notes will be issued only to new banks organized since January 1, 1902, and those extending or re-extending their charters.

Only the denominations of $10 and $20 are yet ready for issue. Later, fives, fifties and onehundreds will be issued. These notes are quite a radical departure in design from bank notes heretofore issued, and are considered a great improvement.

The backs have only one plate printing, which is an artistic vignette printed in green. The faces all bear portraits of prominent deceased officials of the government, these being President Harrison, for the five; President McKinley for the ten; Secretary McCulloch for the twenty; Secretary Sherman for the fifty, and Comptroller of the Currency John J. Knox for the one hundred.

BECAME A BRIDE

ON THE DAY SHE TOUCHED THE CENTURY MARK

But "Grandma" Morgan Was Soon Deserted—Once the Wife of a Wooster Man.

Joplin, Mo., March 19.—In the little burying ground at the county poor farm at Galena, just across the border in Kansas, lies the unclaimed body of Mary Jane Morgan, who died on Monday at the age of 104 years. "Grandma" Morgan was once the wife of a wealthy man in Wooster, Ohio, who moved to Kansas during the early boom and died, leaving his aged wife in destitute circumstances.

She had made her home in Galena for a number of years till three weeks ago, when she suddenly became ill and was removed to the almshouse. She had been married three times and is the mother of several children, who became scattered and their whereabouts are unknown.

The old lady spent the early days of her life in Ohio. On the day she was 100 years old she became the bride of John Morgan, who was in his eightieth year. Morgan at first seemed to care a great deal for her, but afterward deserted her. Up to within a short time ago the old woman was active and able to take care of herself. She was a familiar figure on the streets, and made her living by peddling.

Rhodes' Condition.

Capetown, March 19.—Cecil Rhodes is slightly weaker today. The exceptional coolness of the weather and the free administration of oxygen contributed to the patient passing a quiet night. He no longer reads. Mr. Rhodes was much pleased at the receipt of the messages of sympathy sent to him by King Edward and Queen Alexandra.

Norfolk, Va., March 19.—There is a furious gale on the Virginia and Carolina coasts again today with the wind blowing 35 miles an hour at Cape Henry, 40 miles an hour at Hatteras, and the temperature down to 20 degrees. There is the greatest fear for all shipping at sea. This is the coldest weather for March known here in years.

STATES

THREE NEW ONES ARE TO BE MADE

OF ARIZONA, NEW MEXICO AND OKLAHOMA

TERRITORY NAMED JEFFERSON

Will be on the United States Map—Description of the Proposed New States.

Washington, March 19.—The house committee on territories, by unanimous agreement, indicating that no partisanship entered into its conclusions, has reported a bill for the admission into the Union as States of the three Territories of Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma, and also for the organization of what has been known as the Indian territory as the Territory of Jefferson. This will commemorate the Louisiana purchase, for it was Jefferson who brought it about. In time we will have the State of Jefferson. The first step by the three Territories to their Statehood will be the election of delegates to conventions to form State constitutions. After their acceptance by Congress will come the organization of the State governments and the election of United States senators, governors and other State officers. Then their admission into the Union, increasing the number of States to forty-eight, absorbing all United States territory on the continent except what may be included in the territories of Jefferson and Alaska.

Heretofore in the admission of new States party politics has often played an important part, but as to Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma political considerations are not likely to influence the question of their admission. Their future politics is uncertain, as they are apparently not wedded to either party.

As to the population of the proposed States, the census of 1890 gives Arizona a population of 122,351, New Mexico 195,310 and Oklahoma 398,331. Arizona exceeds in population Wyoming and Nevada; New Mexico exceeds also Delaware and Idaho, and Oklahoma exceeds, in addition, the States of Vermont, North Dakota, Montana and Utah. Arizona with an area of 113,024, and New Mexico, with 122,580 square miles, are larger than any of the forty-five States, except California, Montana and Texas. Oklahoma's area is 29,020 square miles, which is exceeded by 23 States. Density of population is one of the tests of fitness for Statehood, and, while Arizona and New Mexico have large areas and comparatively small populations, yet they are not the most sparsely peopled of the States. The density, that is the number of inhabitants to the square mile, is only 1.4 in Nevada, where there are but two persons to every five square miles, while in Arizona the density is over 1; in New Mexico, 1.6 and in Oklahoma 19.3, which is greater than that of California, with 9.7, and nine other States. If Arizona and New Mexico were admitted, they would surpass Nevada in density, and other States, as well as Nevada, in numbers.

Oklahoma has made extraordinary progress since its organization as a territory a few years ago. Its population is 80,000 more than the combined population of Arizona and New Mexico. The Territory has towns of 10,000, a university with 295 students; an agricultural school; with 366 students; 999 church organizations, and 115,736 children on the public school rolls. All three Territories have school systems, banks, railroad facilities and considerable towns. Mining, agriculture and other industries are growing in importance and immigrants are steadily swelling the population. They should all be admitted. About Oklahoma there can be no doubt, but as to Arizona and New Mexico, the question of admission would have been debatable if the supreme court had not decided that the constitution of the United States does not cover and protect, as a matter of course, the Territories of the United States. The decisions on the Porto Rico and Philippine cases make it good policy for the admission of these Territories, so that Congress may not be tempted to legislate for them outside the constitution.

War Revenue Bill.

Washington, March 19.—As telegraphed the Advocate yesterday, the Senate committee on finance concluded the consideration of the bill repealing the war revenue act and authorizing a favorable report on it. The bill is greatly changed in phraseology and it is announced that it will probably not be in shape before sometime today.

The bill as it will be reported removes all the taxes of the war revenue act, and the only changes made are those of language, making sure of the result.

Among other changes in the language of the bill is one fixing the rate on tobacco at 5 cents per pound.

The delay in reporting the bill is occasioned by threats on the part of senators to offer amendments to the bill and the desire to avoid that possibility Senator Foraker has said that he would present a provision for Cuban reciprocity.

This it is known would arouse long debate, and the Republican members of the finance committee are exerting themselves to prevent the offering of the amendments.

Democratic senators generally express themselves as willing to allow an unconditional repeal of the bill to pass without amendment.

CONVICTED MURDERERS

ESCAPE FROM COUNTY JAIL AT ST. CLAIRSVILLE.

Cut Through Cell Floor and Drop to Cellar—Indications of Outside Assistance.

St. Clairsville, O., March 19.—Barney Devine and Leonard Stevens, the convicted murderers of Clarence Warrick, escaped from the county jail here. They were confined in the same cell.

Devine and Stevens cut a hole in the floor of their cell and dropped into the cellar, where the only obstacle to their freedom was a window, which was easily removed. The floor of the cell is heavy sheet iron under which was eight inches of cement resting upon another layer of sheet iron. Soot on the lower side evidently from a torch justified the suspicion that outsiders aided them.

The sheriff's posse failed to discover any trace of the fugitives, and as the delivery was not discovered until an attendant brought the prisoner's foot it is believed that they were many hours in advance of the posse.

The crime for which Devine and Stevens were convicted was committed several months ago. Entering the Warrick house for the purpose of robbery the men were surprised by Clarence Warrick, a boy, 14 years old, who showed fight. They killed the boy. They were convicted on circumstantial evidence and sentenced for life. The Circuit Court granted a new trial on the grounds of insufficiency of testimony. For the purpose of holding them pending a search for a witness, they were indicted for perjury. Devine was convicted last week and Stevens' trial was set for next week.

London, March 19.—Alfred Mosely, who amassed a fortune dealing in diamonds in South Africa, sails for New York on the Oceania today to arrange for a tour of the United States this fall on two commissions of inquiry into the conditions of labor and system of education in America. Speaking of his plan, Mr. Mosely said he had become convinced that America with its colossal possibilities, is destined to rule the world, and that it would be good policy for England to go hand in hand with her. To accomplish this, Mr. Mosely says it is necessary for Great Britain to drop her "antiquated insular notions, and imitate American methods." Hence his idea of sending investigating commissions.

SIGNED DECREE

WHICH BARS FRESH AND CANNED
BEEF FOR GERMANY.

An Estimate Shows the Kaiser's Order
Cuts Off Six Millions in Exports
From America.

New York, March 19.—It is just known that Kaiser William signed a decree which bars the importation into Germany of American fresh and canned beef and bacon after the departure of Prince Henry from this country. The prohibition is based on the ground that borax and boric acid are used in preserving the debarked meats. An estimate shows the decree cuts off $6,000,000 in exports. Oddly enough the experiments by this and the German government show that boric acid not only keeps fresh food in a natural state, but causes it to remain a wholesome article.

SAME NAME

Had These Men and the One Not Nominated Was Elected—A Queer Election Tangle.

Rochester, N. Y., March 19.—At the charter election held at Clyde last Tuesday, James H. Mack, according to the printing on the official ballot, was voted for and elected to the office of Police Constable on the Democratic ticket. Local politicians who ran the caucus at which the nominations were made say that James Mack was the candidate of the caucus and should have been, if he was not elected.

James Mack, who was put in nomination at the caucus, is an iron worker at Wood & Son's foundry, but the official notification of the nomination was sent to James H. Mack, who is employed at the Clyde Glass Works. He promptly accepted the nomination in writing, required by law, and his name was printed on the official ballots, with the result that he was technically elected to an office for which he was never nominated, while the candidate nominated at the caucus and certified to the Village Clerk by the officers of the caucus by not declining, as required by law, was legally a candidate for the office, though his name was not printed on the ballot.

How the matter will be adjusted has not yet been decided, and a Court will have to pass upon it.

A Name Twice Made
Famous, Now a Shining Mark for Imitators.

The name "Chase," twice made famous, is a shining mark for the unscrupulous to pounce upon and appropriate in order to foist upon the public their worthless preparations. These birds of prey, by using the name Chase, expect the public to be fooled into believing they are the medicines of Dr. A. W. Chase, who first became noted as the author of the world famous Dr. Chase's Recipe Book and family physician, and whose name is now daily increased by the wonderful success of his Nerve Pills, with Nerve, Brain and Blood troubles. They play upon the name Chase, but dare not use the initials "A. W."

They imitate, but dare not counterfeited the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, which identifies the Nerve Pills now recognized as infallible for building up pale, weak, thin-blooded, nerve exhausted sufferers.

Who are nerve-tired and brain-weary. Who are easily exhausted. Who are wakeful—cannot sleep. Who have nervous headache. They remove the cause of blood impurities, securing refreshing sleep and impart strength to people who find their strength and vigor waning.

They settle irritated nerves, replace lagging and brainless with energy and animation. Cure Nervous Dyspepsia.

CAUTION.—The protection to the public in securing the genuine and original Dr. A. W. Chase preparation is in seeing the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., on each box. These and these only are the genuine. Do not be misled by any getting bearing the name "Chase" without the initials A. W. Chase.

HAVE INCORPORATED

THE OLD MUSIC HOUSE OF H. D. MUNSON & SONS.

Young Blood Brought into the Business by the Deal—Capital Stock is $100,000.

The old music house of H. D. Munson & Sons has taken out incorporation papers, with a capital stock of $100,000 and from April 1st will be known as The H. D. Munson Sons Music Company.

The organization was completed at a meeting of the stockholders Friday evening. The following directors were chosen: H. D. Munson, Charles E. Munson, James T. Miller, E. W. Stockdale and Joseph M. Brelsford.

H. D. Munson was elected president, Charles E. Munson, vice president, J. T. Miller, treasurer, and Elizabeth A. Oldham secretary.

The new company consolidates the small goods business of J. T. Miller, who for the past twenty years has been so closely identified with the interests of the old house. The change brings young blood into the business and the new members of the company are active, hard working young men, who have been chosen on account of their faithfulness and loyalty to the old house.

With the new arrangement the time honored house of H. D. Munson & Sons, established 50 years ago, will be in a better position than ever to enlarge and increase its business. It is now regarded as the largest and best conducted music house in south-eastern Ohio.

The Newark branch which has been associated with Newark's leading business houses for the past 25 years, located at 27 West Main street, is under the management of Mr. E. W. Stockdale, a gentleman well and favorably known in the musical circles, whose years of experience and knowledge of an instrument establishes a confidence with his many customers. His motto is fair dealings, value received and courteous treatment. He still solicits the patronage of all who are interested in a piano or organ.

WARFARE

IN ISLAND OF SAMAR AS SEEN BY A NEWARK BOY.

George B. Emewiler Now a Member of Company H, Seventh Infantry
Writes a Letter.

The following letter from George B. Emewiler, a former well known Licking county boy, now a member of Co. H, Seventh U. S. I., stationed at Borongan, Samar, P. I., concerning the warfare carried on in that country, will be read with interest by readers of the Advocate:

Borongan, Samar, P. I., Feb. 5, '02.
Editor Advocate:—In order to understand the nature of the warfare that exists on the island of Samar, it will be necessary to give a brief description of the island of Samar. The island has an area of about 4,800 square miles. It is about 120 miles long by 40 miles wide. The surface bordering the ocean for three or four miles inland is low, swampy, and covered with a dense undergrowth of vegetation, consisting of palms, bananas, coconuts, hemp, tall grass and thorny bushes. The whole interior is mountainous, and covered with forests of huge trees. Some of these trees are eight and ten feet in diameter. The climate varies. It is cool during the night and very hot during the day. It rains for about eight months during the year. The rains often continue for twenty and thirty days in succession.

The people belong to the Visayan branch of the Malay race. They are altogether a different class of people from those inhabiting the island of Luzon. They are of a lighter color, larger (some of them are six feet in height) and also more independent. On the island of Luzon a native passing an American soldier or an American flag will always lift his hat. Here they will pass you without noticing you unless they happen to be hid behind a rock half a mile away with a rifle in their hands.

The principal occupation of the people consists in gathering coconuts for the agents of foreign merchants. These they sell for about four cents a dozen. One agent representing a Manila firm, shipped from this port at one time 30,000 coconuts. The people raise large quantities of sweet potatoes, and have large droves of carabos and hundreds of chickens. They also manufacture large quantities of cloth by means of a loom from the hemp that grows wild here. The hemp tree has the appearance of a banana tree. So closely does it resemble the banana tree that one not accustomed to seeing it could hardly distinguish between the two. The tree is about twenty or thirty feet high and has long, broad leaves. The natives cut the tree down with a bolo and then peel the trunk. After it is peeled off they place it in water until it becomes thoroughly soaked, and then it is cut in narrow pieces, and is ready for the loom. It is stretched tight in the loom and by means of fine wire like threads it is shredded until it is almost as fine as silk, and has the appearance of our hemp twine. The loom is generally worked by a native woman.

WARFARE.

The war on this island was caused principally by such rebels as Lukban, and American deserters and the padres (priests). I don't believe war would ever have occurred here if it had not been for the above class of people. These disappointed rebels are making money out of it, especially Lukban, on this island, and Malvar on Luzon. Thousands of the natives are a very ignorant, low class of people, and they are told by their leaders that the Americans desire to exterminate them and come over and take possession of their homes. Hostilities first broke out here on September 28th, when Company C of the Ninth was so nearly wiped out. While eating their breakfast they were suddenly alarmed by the ringing of the bells in the town and before they were aware of it and could reach their guns 400 bolomen rushed upon them. Over 60 of those brave boys now lie buried in trenches. But the natives also suffered. They lost about 200. The cook who was in the kitchen at the time, killed sixteen of them with an ax and finally escaped. It was a fearful slaughter. When the Seventh regiment marched there no natives were to be found except dead ones, and the boys with handkerchiefs soaked in a drug solution, buried them.

The Ninth again suffered on October 16, on the Candara river, though not to the extent of the former experience. A detachment of 46 men under Lieut. George W. Wallace was attacked by 400 bolomen. Ten were killed and six wounded. The natives lost over 80. The insurgents showed unusual boldness and determination. The Seventh regiment, now stationed at Bolongan, a city of 25,000 or 30,000 inhabitants, also had several engagements. Company H was attacked at Pamayan, south of here, by the riflemen and bolomen, but drove the enemy off. One American was wounded. Company C lost one captain (Captain Harishora) in an engagement. Attacks occur almost daily. The Seventh now have about 200 prisoners in their possession and a short distance from town they have over 3,000 stationed on an island. They are amiable, supposed to be friendly. All of these are closely guarded. A sentry while in charge of some prisoners here was suddenly attacked by the prisoners, with shovels, and killed. While digging the grave in which he was to be buried they were laughing and enjoying the work immensely, but they didn't have long to laugh. Our commander, Capt. Wallace, sent for the guard, lined four of the prisoners up, and a volley from the guard put an end to their merriment. For this act Lukban offers $1000 in gold for Capt. Wallace's head. Capt. Wallace is out now with 150 riflemen to give him an opportunity to get his head.

The Americans are constructing at the present time a telephone line from Sulot to this place, a distance of about 25 miles. How they are going to keep it from being destroyed is a question. Nearly all the business in this town is carried on by Chenos. They are friendly towards the Americans.

Today we received papers giving an account of the trial of the assassin of President McKinley, his electrocution, and burial of McKingley, etc.

A private was given a five years sentence and a bob from the army for making the assertion "that he was glad that McKinley was shot."

The boys in the army occupy their time in gambling, mostly. This evil could be done away with to a great extent if the Christian organizations in the United States would supply the boys with papers, magazines, books, etc., instead of praying for the heathen Chinese and losing lives and money in China and Africa. One Y. M. C. A. in Connecticut has done more for the boys in the Philippines than any other society in America. Nearly every boat that arrives brings papers, magazines, books, etc., to the boys in khaki from this Connecticut Y. M. C. A., and when the boys receive these papers, etc., instead of going to the gambling hall they generally occupy their time in reading. As General Miles says, "most of the boys in the army are from the country and know but little of the art of gambling, drinking, etc., but when they enter the army they must have something to do to pass away their time, or they will soon fall into the habit of gambling, etc." The canteen has been done away with, but whiskey, beer, tuba and other drinks can be obtained in every village, town or city in the Philippines.

Mr. Parker's Letter.

Widespread interest was taken in the four column letter published in Tuesday's Advocate from Hon. James Parker, a former Newark man, who is now practicing law at Perth Amboy, N. J., telling of four Newark lads, all schoolmates, who became famous.

In speaking of this letter to a reporter an old veteran today said that he had known Mr. Parker's father very well in the early history of Newark. He, the father, was prosecuting attorney of this county. He died in Cincinnati in 1861, just after his son, the writer of the letter referred to, had gone to the army. The old gentleman's widow died at her son's home in 1891 at the age of 83.

HOMER GAS

BURNED IN GRANVILLE BEFORE A LARGE CROWD.

Illumination Accompanied by Speeches from the Mayor and Officers of the New Gas Company.

Granville, O., March 19.—The citizens of this place are jubilant over the prospects of soon burning Licking Co. gas. The pipes of the Granville Natural Gas and Fuel Company have been laid from the wells of the company in the Homer field, to the north corporation line of this place, and a fine illumination was had on Tuesday night in honor of the event. This company began laying pipes about thirty days ago, with a force of fifteen or twenty men and during that time fully eight miles of piping has been laid.

The size of the pipe used is three and four inch. The line was laid direct from the Lanning well, in the Homer field, under the supervision of A. W. Evans and N. W. Kinkaid, who were assisted by two experts, Ray Kinkaid and George Emert, all of Zanesville.

All of the stockholders of the company were present on Tuesday evening, including the following named gentlemen: S. M. Winn, president; William Godfrey, secretary, and the following directors: J. B. Owen, John Church, William R. Smith, Richard Nickling, A. W. Evans, N. M. Kinkaid, all of Zanesville, and J. L. Lewis, of Granville.

The Granville company is incorporated under the laws of Ohio by the following named gentlemen: S. M. Winn, A. W. Evans, J. B. Owen, N. M. Kinkaid and J. L. Lewis.

Several of the Zanesville parties are also members of the Licking Gas, Oil and Fuel Company. These parties were among the first to enter the Homer field, and under the advice of the expert, N. M. Kinkaid, were fortunate in obtaining a number of valuable leases of land in the heart of the Licking gas field. They have so far drilled three wells, all of which are good producers. The smallest well shows a pressure of some 700 pounds.

The pressure shown on Tuesday night was 175 pounds. According to the franchise granted by the council of Granville the company was to show a sufficient pressure of gas, and the result has been more than satisfactory to all concerned.

The illumination on Tuesday night was sent for 6:30 o'clock, to take place at the corporation line on Pearl street, just on the northern edge of the village. Long before the time set for the display had arrived a large concourse of people numbering at least five or six hundred, had assembled at the scene to witness the exhibition.

Just previous to lighting the gas Mayor J. L. Lewis, of this place, mounted the temporary platform that had been erected, and congratulated the people of Granville on their good fortune in having Licking county gas piped from the Homer field, to be used by them at a cost much less than they have been paying, and at a much less cost than other cities were willing to pay, it being shown that Delaware, Mansfield and other cities had granted franchises to companies operating in the same field at a price 33 per cent higher than the citizens of Granville would have to pay.

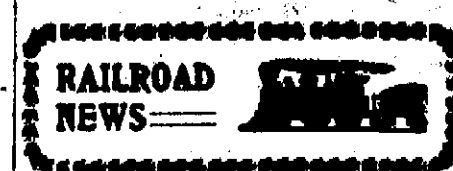

S. M. Winn, the president of the company, was then introduced and thanked the people of Granville for the encouragement that had been extended to the company in signing over 225 contracts, in addition to the college contract, which in itself amounts to over $2000 per year. He also thanked the council for having granted the franchise. At the close of his remarks the throttle was pulled open and escaping gas from the standpipe, which was between 35 and 40 feet high, burst forth with a loud noise.

Miss Ethel Chissold, a charming young lady of Chicago, then pulled the valve of the large whistle which had been placed on top of the standpipe, and the deep toned notes of the whistle reverberated through the hills about Granville village, startling the natives and causing the birds and animals to become frightened and to fly and run about as though they were crazed.

After the whistle had been blown for some little time, Messrs. Rufus Jones and Dwight Sample then shot off several Roman candles until one of the balls of fire struck the gas when instantly the whole country was illumined as bright as day. It was a magnificent display, and well repaid those who witnessed it.

The company will proceed without delay to lay pipes in the streets of Granville, and hope to be ready to supply the people with gas within the next twenty days.

The Pan Handle has secured a permit for the erection of a new freight house at Pittsburgh. The building will be 363 feet long by 153 wide, and two stories high, and will be constructed of brick and steel. It will cost $310,000.

To Be Abolished.
The Central Passenger Association lines have decided on the first of next month to abolish excess baggage coupon books. Travelers having a large amount of baggage by the use of the excess baggage coupons, have been able to have their excess baggage carried at less than the regular charge. After April 1, regular rates will be charged for all excess baggage.

May Go With Eastern Road.
Thomas J. English, who resigned as superintendent of the Pittsburgh division of the B. & O. in the city on Sunday night, Mr. English said that he had received several offers and would probably accept a position with an eastern road. Mr. English's resignation was the result of the desire of the Pennsylvania interests, who control the B. & O. to put an old P. R. R. man in charge of the Pittsburgh division.

A SPANISH COUNT CURED OF LA GRIPPE.

COUNT DE OVIE

Count Segundo de Ovie was a Carlist exile. The signature of his uncle, Louis de Ovie, is found with that of John Quincy Adams ceding Florida to the United States in a treaty with Spain. The Count is forty-six years of age, an exile from Orizaba, situated in the northern part of Spain, and has been exiled since 1870; he is wealthy, and has traveled and studied the customs, habits and languages of twenty-five different nations.

In a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio, the Count gives his endorsement to their great catarrh remedy, Peruna, in the following words:

The Canfield, Atlantic City, N. J.

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio:

Gentlemen—"Last winter my secretary had a severe attack of la grippe which was cured effectually by the use of four bottles of Peruna, so when I contracted the same unpleasant sickness last fall I at once sent for a bottle. It truly worked wonders, and removed the sickening and sore feeling I had within a few days. I would not be without it now for any money, and when I go away I carry Peruna as a valuable requisite to my traveling outfit."—JULIAN SEGUNDO, CONDE DE OVIE.

NEARLY everybody is having la grippe again. It resembles somewhat in the beginning a severe cold. A chill or cold spell is followed by aching bones, sore throat, headache, cough, and general weakness. Its course may be quite slight or severe, but in either case it nearly always leaves one in a miserable condition.

Unless Peruna is taken it will be weeks or months before a person regains his usual health. If the victim is fortunate enough to begin the use of Peruna at the commencement of the attack the course of the grip is much shortened, and the system is left in a natural state.

People who have had la grippe, but are still suffering from the after-effects, should not neglect to take Peruna, as it will promptly restore them to health.

Henry Distin, the inventor and maker of all the band instruments of the Henry Distin Manufacturing Co., writes the following from 1441 South Ninth street, Philadelphia, Pa:

"I had a bad attack of la grippe last December which lasted more than three months, and which left me with catarrh, and several of my friends advised me to try Peruna. I began with a bottle the first week in March and it certainly did me a great deal of good. I was so well satisfied that I purchased another bottle and followed the directions, and can say that it has cured me."—Henry Distin.

A large per cent of those who are afflicted with this epidemic, instead of getting well as they ought to, will have chronic catarrh as the result. This is almost invariably the case unless Peruna is taken as soon as possible after the grip begins.

Every one who has observed the effect of Peruna during the last three epidemics of la grippe positively knows that this remedy will cure it permanently.

The fact is, however, that a great multitude of people will not take Peruna, and a foundation for chronic catarrh will be laid.

Even in cases where chronic catarrh has affected the lungs, and the early stages of catarrhal consumption have been developed, Peruna can be relied upon as a prompt and lasting cure. La grippe and catarrh are at present the two great enemies of life in the land. Peruna is a cure for either.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

Henry Distin.

COUGHED UP TOOTH

AND HIS VOICE LOST NEARLY 25 YEARS AGO

Was Restored—R. C. Davis Had Been Treated for Asthma, Catarrh and Other Troubles.

Columbus, O., March 19.—R. C. Davis, aged 69, who resides on Harden avenue, has just performed the astonishing feat of recovering his long-lost voice by the simple process of coughing up a tooth.

About 18 years ago he began to have trouble with his throat, which continued uninterruptedly until last Sunday morning. Until he first experienced this trouble he was an accomplished bass singer and attained considerable reputation in Indianapolis, where he previously resided, as a basso in church choirs. Suddenly he discovered that there was something the matter with his throat, which put an end to his singing. Since then he has been treated for asthma, catarrh and all manner of throat trouble without obtaining relief.

During a very severe fit of coughing he coughed up a hard substance which proved to be a piece of tooth a little larger than a pea. The removal of the tooth restored his voice, and he can now sing and breathe without obstruction.

The theory is that the piece of tooth slipped down his throat 18 years ago and lodged in the oesophagus just below the larynx. It formed a pocket in that position and remained there without materially affecting his ability to swallow food.

Buy at Home.

When making your purchases always give Home products the preference. If you smoke, buy Newark cigars; when you order a sack of flour, call for Newark flour; when you need a suit of clothing, a pair of shoes, a hat, a bill of groceries, a silk dress, a new carpet, a stove or what not, buy it in Newark. Everytime you will get the best right here at home and at a reasonable price. Help to make Newark boom by buying in Newark. Keep Newark money in Newark and you will have a better chance to get a piece of it back than if you send it to Columbus, Chicago or elsewhere. Do your buying at home.

Goodhair Soap saves your hair.

All Humors

Are impure matters which the skin, liver, kidneys and other organs can not take care of without help, there is such an accumulation of them.

They litter the whole system. Pimples, boils, eczema and other eruptions, loss of appetite, that tired feeling, bilious turns, fits of indigestion, dull headaches and many other troubles are due to them.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Remove all humors, overcome all their effects, strengthen, tone and invigorate the whole system.

"I had salt rheum on my hands so that I could not work. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and it drove out the humor. I continued its use till the sores disappeared." Mrs. I. A. O. Brown, Rumford Falls, Me.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

FROM MR. SCHAUS.

Miss Mary Schaus the little daughter of Mr. C. F. Schaus the West Main street grocer, has received the following card from her uncle, Mr. Lewis P. Schaus, dated at Athens, Greece, Feb. 26th. The card is a beautifully illustrated one with a picture of the ruins of an old Grecian theatre on it.

Dear Mary—We are here at Athens today and have been sightseeing all day. It was nice this morning, but rained this afternoon. We did not stop, but kept on going. We will leave here tomorrow night for Constantinople. We are having a good time and I have seen some great sights today. This picture (meaning the one on the postal card) is the ruins of an old theatre. I sat in one of the marble chairs in it today, that kings used to sit in and had my picture taken.

With love from
UNCLE LEWIS.

Palmer-Queen.

Mr. Rufus Palmer, an employee of Pratt & Montgomery's planing mill, in the East End, and Miss Angie Queen were married on Tuesday evening. The ceremony took place at the home of Rev. M. W. Acton, pastor of the Second M. E. church, and was performed by that gentleman at 6 o'clock. The happy couple have the best wishes of all their friends. They will make their home in this city.

OLEOMARGARINE BILL IS NEXT.

Washington, March 19.—The Republican steering committee of the senate decided to give the first place in the order of business in the senate after disposing of the pending business to the oleomargarine bill and to allow that to be followed by the Chinese exclusion bill.

The committee discussed the question of giving the Nicaraguan canal bill third place on the calendar, but decided not to act on that question inasmuch as it is considered probable that the discussion of the oleomargarine and the Chinese bills will consume some time.

The war revenue repeal bill, like appropriation bills, is of a privileged character and can be taken up at any time after being reported.

Registration.

The only registration days this spring are Friday and Saturday, March 21 and 22, between the hours of 8 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 4 p. m. to 9 p. m. each day. If you are not registered properly in the precinct in which you reside attend to it Friday or Saturday.

Women Register.

All women who expect to vote for member of the Board of Education in the Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Eighth wards at the coming election on April 7, must be registered. Previous registration of women in these wards does not count. The registrars will be in session two days only—Friday and Saturday this week, March 21 and 22 from 8 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 4 p. m. to 9 p. m. each day.

Mr. Will Van Fossell of Thirteenth street is confined at his home with sickness.

Fenn to Follow Pace.

W. S. Fenn, the amateur champion of 1900 and last year the handicap king of the professionals, will be a pace follower this season. Fenn is one of the most likely men in the ranks of the sprinters to make a good rider behind pace. He is twenty-one years old, humbly built and plucky. He will ride at about 150 pounds. He will do his preparatory training in Atlanta, Ga. He will ride under the management of P. Ed Scoover and Charles Wells.

Great Pitching Records.

Clark Griffith's record of one wild pitch in a season's work was equaled by Salisbury, the Phillies' new pitcher, in forty-two games in the Pacific Northwest league and by Tannehill of Pittsburgh in thirty-two contests the past season and eclipsed by Duglesley of the Phillies, who, according to the St. Louis Sporting World, did not make a wild pitch in thirty-five contests in 1900.

Chesbro Is Prosperous.

Pitcher Jack Chesbro of the Pirates has just purchased at North Adams, Mass., a four acre tract on which there are three dwellings, two stables and numerous other buildings. He has the houses all rented, the farm leased out on shares for the coming summer and says he already feels like a little fat landlord.

Yacht Designers' Records.

It is interesting to note that thirty-one of Will Fife's boats contesting in 253 races won 173 first prizes last season. Watson won sixty-two firsts out of 232 races with sixteen boats, and young Herreshoff with one carried off sixteen firsts out of thirty-four races.

The Western Association.

So far the Western association circuit is made up of Wheeling, Dayton, Fort Wayne, Marion and Covington. The circuit may be completed by admitting Youngstown, Springfield and Mansfield.

Schaefer May Go Abroad.

Champion E. Carroll Schaefer of the National Swimming association, formerly of the University of Pennsylvania, may go abroad this year to meet the English swimmers.

Sir Thomas Holdich has arrived at Buenos Ayres on his mission of inquiry to the area in dispute between Argentina and Chile.

SEARCHING FOR A SMUGGLER'S COTTAGE

Fifty years ago Ben Trimborn was a bold smuggler on the Maine coast. He was so desperate that custom house officers were prone to let him alone. One day a new man, Jim Apherson, was appointed to the district where Trimborn lived. Apherson was one of those men who are always in a state of unrest and consequently liable to overreact themselves. He could see no reason why Trimborn should be let alone while others were hunted down. Besides, Apherson had ambitions to do something remarkable, just to show the other men at the custom house what an inefficient lot they were.

Trimborn, with his daughter, occupied a cottage on the rocks overlooking the ocean. It was an unfrequented place, and no old customs man would think of tackling him there without assistance. Apherson resolved to search the house, saying nothing about his feat till it had been accomplished. One evening he walked off alone and knocked at the cottage door of the redoubtable smuggler. It was opened by a young girl, and Trimborn was seen sitting by a table reading a newspaper.

"I've come to search your house," said Apherson.

"Search it," replied Trimborn, without looking up from his paper. The customs man went down into the cellar, then through the closets of the main floor, and all the while the smuggler sat apathetically reading his newspaper, never so much as deigning to look up at the officer. At last nothing remained but to search the space under the roof. Looking up, the customs man observed a square trapdoor.

"I want to go up there," he said.

"Well, why don't you go?"

"No conveyance."

"That's easy enough to get. Kathleen, bring the ladder for the gentleman."

Kathleen obeyed, the ladder was brought, and Apherson was putting his foot on the lower round when Trimborn stopped him.

"I'll trouble you for the fare for the conveyance. You can search my house as an officer of the law, but I'm not bound to furnish you transportation."

"How much?"

"A nickel."

Apherson produced a nickel and handed it to Trimborn, then proceeded to mount the ladder. After making a careful examination and finding nothing he returned to the trap and was about to descend when Trimborn called to him:

"Throw down the fare."

"I've paid the fare."

"For going up."

"Oh, well, here's another nickel for going down." He tossed a nickel down on the floor.

"Stop," cried Trimborn. "I want the rest of the fare. The government regulates the nation's duties. I regulate mine in my own house."

"Well, how much more do you want?"

"Nine-nine dollars and ninety-five cents. That, with the nickel paid, makes the fare to come down."

"Tush, man! You're joking." And the customs man stepped down to the second round. Trimborn reached to the wall beside him and from a rack took down a short, ugly looking gun.

"Stay where you are."

"Do you mean to interfere with an officer of the law in the performance of his duty?"

"No. You have been free to search my house, but you must pay my price for using my ladder."

"And if I decline?"

"You can do as you like about that."

And, resuming his chair and his paper, with his gun in the hollow of his arm, Trimborn looked prepared to keep watch till the day of doom. Apherson began to wonder how he would get out of the difficulty. Since he had not told of his intention to make the search, if missed no one would look for him at Ben Trimborn's. An hour went by, when he decided to propose terms.

"I'll give you $10," he said.

"All or nothing," replied his jailer.

"I have only that with me."

"You can sign a check on the bank."

It was not till noon the next day and Apherson had become faint from hunger that he capitulated and signed the check, which Kathleen took to the bank for payment. When she returned with the money, her father permitted the searcher to descend.

"Now, my man," said the latter, "what's to prevent my proceeding against you for this?"

"Nothing, and you'll get nothing if you do."

"Why?"

"No witnesses."

"Your daughter."

"Was not present during the transaction."

Apherson, who was somewhat versed in the law, saw that his case would be a doubtful one.

"However," said Trimborn, "compromise is good policy, and to save the stuff from the lawyers I'll divide with you on your giving me a bond of indemnity."

Apherson went away without manifesting a disposition to settle on these liberal terms, but on consulting counsel he was advised to take his $50, lose $20 and when he again made his raids make them in company. He took the advice and called on Trimborn for $50, but while he had been considering the matter the smuggler had vacated his premises and disappeared from that part of the coast.

Trimborn accumulated quite a property, but was at last taken in the net and sent to prison. He died before recovering his liberty.

INTENSE SUFFERING

From Dyspepsia and Stomach Trouble
Instantly Relieved and Permanently

Cured by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.
A New Discovery, but Not a Patent Medicine.

Dr. Redwell relates an interesting account of what he considers a remarkable case of acute stomach trouble and chronic dyspepsia by the use of the new discovery, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

He says: "The patient was a man who had suffered, to my knowledge, for years with dyspepsia. Everything he ate seemed to sour and create gases in the stomach. He had pains like rheumatism in the back, shoulder blades and limbs, fullness and distress after eating, poor appetite and loss of flesh; the heart became affected, causing palpitation and sleeplessness at night.

"I gave him, powerful nerve tonics and blood remedies, but to no purpose. As an experiment I finally bought a 50 cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at a drug store and gave them to him. Almost immediate relief was given, and after he had used four boxes he was to all appearances fully cured.

"There was no more acidity or sour watery risings, no bloating after meals, the appetite was vigorous and he had gained between 10 and 12 pounds in weight of solid, healthy flesh.

"Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are advertised and sold in drug stores, yet I consider them a most valuable addition to any physician's line of remedies, as they are perfectly harmless and can be given to children or invalids or in any condition of the stomach with perfect safety, being harmless and containing nothing but fruit and vegetable essences, pure pepsin and Golden Seal.

"Without any question they are the latest, most effective cure for indigestion, biliousness, constipation and all derangements of the stomach, however slight or severe."

THE MAKING OF A FAIR.

Work Progressing on the Louisiana Purchase Exposition.

[Special Correspondence.]

St. Louis, March 18.—If Uncle Sam's exhibit at the Louisiana Purchase exposition is not the most complete and elaborate that he has ever shown, it will be no fault of the national commission, of which former Senator Thomas H. Carter of Montana is chairman. The commission is already bestirring itself vigorously to the end that the government display may be fully commensurate with the greatness of the nation. The suggestion recently made that a part of the government exhibit be distributed among the classified exhibits does not meet the approval of either the government board or the national commission. They insist that all government exhibits shall be retained in the government building, as the proposed distribution would detract from the impressiveness of the display as a whole.

Governor Taft of the Philippine commission has informed Chairman Carter that the Philippines exhibit will be second only to that of the United States government itself, that the appropriation of $250,000 already made for the purpose will be increased if necessary, that an exclusive building will be erected for the exhibit and that as soon as his other duties at Washington will permit he will take up the matter with the government board and the national commission and will probably visit St. Louis to confer with the exposition authorities and secure the requisite space.

John Mellows of Porto Rico's board of education writes enthusiastically from Mayaguez, one of the principal cities of the interesting island: "I can assure you that Mayaguez will be the foremost to contribute of her best to guarantee the successful carrying on of the exposition. The insular legislature has appropriated $30,000 for the purpose of displaying the products of this island at this the greatest exposition on record. The island of Porto Rico intends to take a prominent part in it. We are fully alive to the importance of the event, and commissions are being formed all over the island to send a creditable exhibit."

The National Education association asks congress for an appropriation of $25,000 for a national educational exhibit at the St. Louis world's fair and will appear before the house committee on industrial arts and exposition to press the matter. It is no more than was appropriated to enable the association to prepare a government educational exhibit at the Columbian exposition.

Professor F. H. H. Roberts of the University of Wyoming, who is in charge of the preparation of Wyoming's educational exhibit at the world's fair, says they will be the most complete educational display ever undertaken by a western state.

The Mexican Herald of recent date reports that Senator Carlos Rivas, Ig-

SENATOR THOMAS H. CARTER.
[Chairman of the national commission for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition.]

nacio L. de la Barra, Judge Jesus F. Uriarte and Nicolas Ramirez de Arellano have been appointed a world's fair committee for the federal district of Mexico. The Herald says: "That Mexico is fully determined to be well represented at the St. Louis exposition is proved by the earnestness and eagerness with which preparations have been commenced. This applies to the country at large."

The contract for the textiles building has been awarded by the grounds and buildings committee of the exposition to Dunham & Estel of Omaha for $210,390, the work to be finished by Oct. 15, 1902, under a penalty of $500 for each day of delay. The building is to be 600 by 525 feet and the area covered by the roof 246,000 square feet. The exposition authorities are giving appreciative consideration to the suggestions they are receiving from the aero clubs and aeronautic experts in regard to the aeronautic contests at the world's fair. One of the recent communications received was from Major F. C. Trolope of the London Aero club. He thinks there will be "an enormous amount of entries of air vehicles of all sizes, shapes, weights, carrying capacity and lifting power."

The Travelers' Protective association will pay the complement to the Louisiana Purchase exposition of erecting the first building ever constructed for the use of a traveling men's organization at a world's fair. It is estimated that the cost and maintenance of the building will be about $100,000.

Two more of the big exhibit buildings, the varied industries building and the textiles palace, the aggregate cost of which is $1,000,000, are under contract to be completed before the 1st day of October, 1902. Subcontracts on these buildings are being let by the principal contractors, and the contractors for the excavations and foundations are already at work.

A COSTLY TOMB

By Grant Allen

Lartha Seintia was dead. Her husband was inconsolable.

"At least," he said to his brother-in-law, who strove to comfort him for the loss of his beautiful young wife, carried suddenly off after a few days of typhoid, "all that art can do to make her long sleep a happy one shall be done by my orders. I will go to the finest craftsman of tombs in Cincinnati."

The maker of monuments was all obsequious attention. They called him in at once. He hastened in his best black suit to the house of mourning. In the outer hall Lartha's two baby boys were playing with a somewhat chilled mirth, dimly aware that some terrible thing had happened to mother. "That's the man who's come to make mother's tomb," Arnth whispered to Aule. "Nurse told me he was coming."

Aule said nothing, but went on dragging his little cart round the marble hall, with his doll laid out on it, "going to mother's funeral."

"I could model you a very nice tomb like the one I made for the late Lady Ramtha," the sculptor remarked after the customary civilities in the subdued voice of conventional sympathy. "It was a superior sarcophagus of best Targuinian alabaster. I represented the deceased lady on the lid in the attitude of a feast, as is now so fashionable. She had a cup in her hand, which she was in the act of raising with dignity to her lips. You must have seen the design, for don't I recollect you were one of the guests at the funeral?"

"No, thank you," the Larth answered. "I would rather not have anything like that. I wish my dear wife to be represented as I have always seen her, not as banqueting or feasting. The idea of a dinner party seems to me unsuitable for so solemn an occasion."

"They are very much ordered now, these monuments."

"I would rather see my dear wife, when I go to offer the yearly gifts at her grave, dressed in her everyday costume and reclining as I knew her by her couch with her needlework. Represent her just so in the very dress I will lend you. Put this cushion beneath her elbow. Lay this mirror by her side. Give her these bracelets, that necklace, her sewing, her worsted, and then I shall feel she goes on in the tomb living the same placid, affectionate, domestic life I have always admired in her."

"Colored terra cotta, I suppose?" the sculptor suggested. "Alabaster or marble for heroic work, you know, clay alone for domestic. In that material I could make her face absolutely lifelike. You might almost suppose it was the deceased lady herself if you entered hurriedly."

"So make it," the Larth answered, brushing a tear from his eyes. "Spare no expense on the craftsmanship. Let me see her as she lived—calm, dignified, courteous—with her jewelry and ornaments, a lady and a mother."

When the tomb was completed, all Clusium wondered at it. It's every bit as fine as good Greek work," old Vipi Serturi said, and Vipi Serturi was considered a connoisseur in sculpture. The dead lady sat half-reclining on her sumptuous cushions in her habit as she lived. Very gracious and gentle, with her work and her ornaments. They carried her out reverently in this noble sarcophagus, stretched out at full length, clad in the softest robe that she wore in effigy on the lid and with her oriental jewelry on her neck and bosom. Just before they closed it down the mourning husband caught up her favorite silver mirror, engraved with a charming design of Apollo, Bacchus and Semelie, and laid it by her side. Then Arnth and Aule were brought in to kiss the bloodless lips. Aule touched them mechanically. Arnth, a year older, shrank away in vague terror and could hardly be induced to say "Goodby" to his mother.

At the vault they offered up the customary gifts, and the heartbroken husband carried the solemn farewell. Two carved serpents by the door served to keep away evil demons. All was done in the best style. Sculptor and undertaker were quite proud of their performance.

"And I must leave her?" Larth Seintia cried at last, drawing a deep breath. "You must leave her," the priest answered, pointing the way to the door. "I have commended our dear lady to the kindly care of Manius and Mania, the god and goddess who rule the underworld, and to the guardian spirits who protect the dead. Her tomb is large and wide. You have fitted it nobly with couches, chairs and tables for our dear lady's use. She has her servants and her friends, her robes and her ornaments. There she shall live her underground life, unseen of men, but in honor and dignity. Seal up the chamber, workmen! Once again, Larth Seintia, you shall visit her again for the funeral feast, but she herself shall now rest where we have laid her till the great resurrection."

And I confess, when I drew aside the curtains which surround her coffin in room 21 of the Etruscan museum at Florence and read on the label, "Sarcophagus of Lartha Seintia, Cemetery of Chiusi (Cinquini), Second Century B. C." I felt we had small right to intrude upon a great lady's privacy, but her face and dress are charming."

Not So Very Much.

Little Lartha had gone away from home to visit a little neighbor without her mother's consent, and upon her return the girl received a rebuke. The little girl pouted for a time, and then her mother, anxious to renew a friendly relations again, said:

"You still love your mother, don't you, Lartha?"

"Well," answered Lartha thoughtfully, "I don't guess I love my mother if I see her!" Ohio State Journal.

Stories Told

IN Washington

[Special Correspondence.]

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Except when some question of special importance is up for consideration interest in the proceedings of congress, even among the members themselves, lags, and the work goes on frequently with barely a quorum in either chamber. This is particularly true of the senate side of the capitol. The other day Senator Scott of West Virginia was the only senator in the chamber when President Pro Tem. Frye rapped for order at noon. Mr. Frye cast his eyes over the vacant seats for a moment, and then, looking at Senator Scott, said gravely:

"THE SENATOR WILL PLEASE BE IN ORDER."

"The senator from West Virginia will please be in order."

The bluff chaplain offered prayer, the two senators rising and standing with bowed heads. Just as the prayer was concluded Senator Deboe of Kentucky appeared and walked over and congratulated Senator Scott on his promptness. In a few moments half a dozen other senators straggled in, and the business of the day was begun, though it was some little time before a quorum was present.

In addition to the performance of his duties in congress Senator McComas of Maryland lectures before the Law school of Georgetown university. Some times the senator while delivering a lecture is overcome by an impulse to tell of his personal experiences, which are generally entirely foreign to the subject matter, though by no means uninteresting. The other night he happened to remark that the world was a very small place after all, illustrating his assertion by a series of incidents.

"It was over in London last summer," said the senator, "and was passing along the Strand, when I saw coming toward me a familiar figure. Who should it turn out to be but old Bill Smith, my boyhood playmate at Columbus, O. I had not seen him for twenty-five years.

"I went to Paris. Passing along the boulevard I saw a stranger approach. Who should it turn out to be but old Bill Smith.

"I returned to this country. A month later I went out to the Yellowstone park. I was going down a trail, when I saw a man coming toward me. He looked familiar, and again it turned out to be Bill Smith."

Just then one of the students in the back of the hall called out in clear and penetrating tones:

"Why didn't you pay the man?"

The class yelled, and the dignified senator was quite unable to repress a smile.

The forty-eight new Republican members of the house, who have discovered what an inconsiderable figure they cut in the general scheme of national legislation, had a dinner the other evening and amid much merriment organized the Tantalus club. Over the coffee and cigars they discussed the following proposed resolutions:

H. R. 100.—To make the state of Iowa an independent republic, with authority to create enough other offices to go round.

H. R. 26.—To authorize the member of congress from Delaware to cast two votes for that state in the senate, adequate protection to be furnished said member while so doing.

H. R. 69.—To provide a system of irrigation for the state of Maine.

H. R. 431-44.—To extend the civil service law over the United States senate and provide that hereafter all United States senators shall be selected by the civil service commission upon competitive examination, and to provide further that a member of the house shall be permitted to in any way influence said selection to the great detriment of the public.

H. R. 432.—To establish a national bureau for curing the hair of the nation, and to provide for the hair of the nation to be cured by the hair of the nation, and to provide for the hair of the nation to be cured by the hair of the nation.

The congressional "dicks" are rising in not taking that helplessness seriously. It is the experience of all new congressmen, and they must patiently wait for recognition until they get seated.

Representative Wilson of Brooklyn, N. Y., who is a graduate physician, has lately been doing quite a rushing business. Smallpox was almost epidemic in the city, and everybody was getting vaccinated. Dr. Wilson performed the operation for a few congressional friends. Representative Landis of Indiana was taken into a committee room to be vaccinated. His sleeve was rolled up, the vaccine point was all ready, and Dr. Wilson was about to begin the work.

"Stop," suddenly exclaimed Landis. "You are sure there is no Democratic virus on that point?"

"I am," replied Dr. Wilson, "but when this vaccine gets in its work you'll think every Republican in your district has turned Democrat. This vaccine is famous for its 'taking' qualities."

Representative Wilson is rather stout and has been reducing his weight, being already perceptibly thinner. "How are you doing it, doctor?" asked Representative Shattuck of Ohio, who weighs more than 200 pounds. "Hiding in the trailers on the electric cars," replied Mr. Wilson. "They sway so much that a person gets about the same exercise as he would riding horseback."

The house now revels in embossed stationery. It was not ever thus, but a new era has been ushered in. The stationery room at the south end of the capitol now furnishes the members with paper and envelopes whereon the name of the committee and the rank of the member are written in raised letters, red or blue, to suit.

Representative Roberts of Massachusetts is credited with the authorship of the innovation. For years and years senators have been allowed to use embossed stationery, but until not very long ago that privilege, as far as representatives were concerned, has been confined chiefly to the speaker. Proceeding on the theory that what was good enough for senators was none too good for representatives, Mr. Roberts made a requisition for embossed stationery. The chief clerk of the house refused it on the ground that members were not privileged to have it.

"But why not?" asked Mr. Roberts. Then the house officials began to inquire "Why not?" and the question was pressed to its legitimate conclusion, with the result that members of the popular branch of congress are now on an equal footing in the matter of stationery with their distinguished compatriots at the other end of the capitol.

A mild sensation was created at the time of the heavy snow recently by House Librarian John J. Boobar, who walked from his residence to the capitol on snowshoes. While pedestrians walked and slid and plunged about Mr. Boobar swiftly glided over the delicate crust of the snow and unstrap ped his webbed feet at the house entrance while the other fellows were yet blocks away.

The spectacle of a man on snowshoes was a decided novelty in Washington. But it is nothing new to Mr. Boobar, who hails from Duluth, Minn. He was followed into the capitol by quite a crowd of the curious and was finally cornered in the chief clerk's office, where he was compelled to give a dissertation on his particular snowshoes and snowshoeing in general.

The snowshoes worn by Mr. Boobar were something like five feet in length by a foot in width and at first glance might be mistaken for a couple of tennis rackets. From Mr. Boobar's description of the method of locomotion on snowshoes it is easily apparent that the novice should get his experience after dark. The initial performances involve so much side stepping, with frequent and headlong results, that the crowd of curious ones whom Mr. Boobar was happily endeavoring to enlighten momentarily voted to stand by the benches.

At Mr. Boobar's home on the frozen shores of Lake Superior the snowshoes are as common as red shoes in Washington.

TWO MEN

Called for the Baby That Had Been Left on the Doorstep of a Negress.

Danville, Ky., March 12.—Almost chilled to death and crying pitifully, a tiny white girl baby some days ago was discovered on the threshold of the residence of Delphia Caldwell, colored, of Danville. The discovery was made shortly after midnight, and the child was almost covered with snow. Inclosed in an envelope tied to its arm was a note and $50.

In the communication it was stated that $5 would be sent through the mail weekly to compensate for caring for the child, and that its mother would some time call for it. No name was signed, and none has appeared on the subsequent letters with the money. Apparently the baby was 10 days old, very pretty, with blue eyes and dark brown hair, and many curious callers visited the negro home.

Prominent families offered Delphia money for the infant, and lastly the authorities of the town were appealed to for assistance to rescue the child from the negress, but all efforts were futile.

A sensation was created by the sudden appearance of two well-dressed men in a closed carriage who hastily grove to the negress' home, demanded the girl baby, secured her and left without giving their names or being recognized. The old woman is distressed over the loss of the baby and declares that she knows nothing of its parents.
